BONJOUR FRENCH FAIR 2016

15- 18 DECEMBER • Queen Sirikit National Convention Center

Chapter 1: General Provisions

- 01.01 By signing their registration application, the exhibitors accept all of the requirements laid down therein as well as all of the ones that might be imposed by special or new circumstances and by the Franco-Thai Chamber of Commerce (FTCC), its sub-contractors and service providers. In addition, they undertake to respect all of the legal and regulatory requirements in effect, and particularly labour legislation. The present rules and regulations, to be displayed on the event premises, are applicable to visitors. FTCC may not be held liable when it applies the stipulations of the present general rules and regulations.
- 01.02 FTCC alone determines the place, the duration, the price of the booths as well as the date of closing registrations to exhibit at the Bonjour French Fair. It alone determines the categories of persons or companies allowed to exhibit on the Bonjour French Fair.

Chapter 2: Registration and Admission

- 02.01 The admission application is to be filled by using the form drawn up by FTCC.
- 02.02 FTCC processes the applications and rules on the admissions.
- 02.03 FTCC reserves the right to reject, provisionally or definitively, any registration application that does not comply with the required conditions, either in the light of the stipulations laid down in the registration form, or in view of the ones contained in the special rules and regulations governing the event.
- 02.04 In particular, reasons for definitive or provisional rejection include incomplete communication of the required information, failure to make payments, non-observance of prior obligations and in particular of the present general rules and regulations, the exhibitor's judicial reorganisation, its proven state of cessation of payments, non-obtaining of administrative or judicial authorisations that might be necessary to its presence during the event, the risk of an attack, due to its presence, on the protected interests of consumers, and more generally on Public Order, the tranquillity of the other exhibitors, or the safety and pleasure of the visitors. Non-compliance of the applicant or of its products or services with the purpose, spirit or image of the event (each exhibitor must have at least 2/3 of French products on their booth. The displayed products must be imported directly from France or have some links with France (raw materials imported from France to make finished products locally or use French know-how and technology). Only 1/3 European products are allowed. This threshold is not applicable for booths located in the Mediterranean zone as defined in the official floorplan. Only Mediterranean products are allowed in the Mediterranean zone. A maximum of 1/3 of European products can be sold there.
- 02.05 Thailand liquor license for temporary event from the Excise Department is required from exhibitors who want to sell or supply alcoholic beverages during the Bonjour French Fair. The FTCC will not take any responsibility for the Thailand liquor licence's request which should remain at the exhibitor's entire responsibility. In the event that exhibitor fails to provide a Thailand liquor license for temporary event during Bonjour French fair, the FTCC will not allow the exhibitor to sell and/or display alcoholic beverages at the Fair. Furthermore, the FTCC will not reimburse or indemnify the exhibitor who fails to provide the Thailand liquor license for temporary event.
- 02.06 The exhibitor must inform FTCC about any elements or events, occurring or disclosed after its registration, of such nature as to justify reconsideration of its admission in the light of articles 02.03 and 02.04 of the present rules and regulations.
- 02.07 In addition, FTCC reserves the right at any time to request any additional information related to the foregoing and, if appropriate, to reverse an admission decision made on the basis of deceptive or erroneous indications or indications that have become inaccurate.
- 02.08 The down-payment made then remains the property of FTCC, which also reserves the right to take legal steps on behalf of payment of the totality of the price. The right resulting from the registration is personal and non-transferable. Admission does not create any right to admission to a later event.
- 02.09 In the absence of an exception granted by FTCC on the basis of an explicit request on their part, groupings may exhibit on collective stands only if each business that is a member of the grouping has been admitted individually and has undertaken to pay the registration fees.

Chapter 3: Registration and participation expenses

- 03.01 The admission application to be returned by August 29, 2016 is to be accompanied by the first down payment corresponding to 60% of the total registration fee. The registration fees remain FTCC's property, whatever the fate of the admission application may be. Registration fees will be given back to exhibitors only in case of event cancellation should there not be enough registrations at the Bonjour French Fair.
- 03.02 The total amount of expenses for participation in the event becomes FTCC's property. Non-payment of the balance on October 14, 2016 shall entail, without any advance notice, forfeiture of the right to exhibit, the down-payment already made irrevocably remaining FTCC's property.
- 03.03 Furthermore FTCC reserves the right to take legal proceedings for payment of the balance of the payable price, in spite of non-participation for any reason whatsoever of the registered exhibitor. In case an exhibitor, for any reason whatsoever, does not occupy its stand on the day of the event's opening, or by the installation deadline set by FTCC, it is considered as having resigned. Without prejudice to any other measures that may be taken, at the exhibitor's risks, FTCC may dispose of the defaulting exhibitor's stand without the exhibitor's being entitled to demand any reimbursement or indemnity, even if the stand is assigned to another exhibitor.

Chapter 4: Assignment of locations

- 04.01 FTCC draws up the event plan and assigns the locations on a first come first served basis.
- 04.02 Registration does not grant any right to use of a given location. Participant in previous events does not create any right to the exhibitor's benefit to a given location.
- 04.03 In constitution of the assignment of the locations, FTCC attempts to take account of the wishes expressed by the exhibitor, the nature and interest of the articles or services they plan to present, and the arrangement of the stand they plan to install.
- 04.04 FTCC reserves the right to modify the layout of the surface areas whenever it considers useful in the interest of the Bonjour French Fair.
- 04.05 FTCC may not be held responsible for slight differences that might be noted between the indicated dimensions and the actual ones of the location, or for modifications occurring in the environment of the stands (modification of the neighbouring stands, reconfiguration of the walkways...) as registrations are entered.

Chapter 5: Installation and conformity of the stands

- 05.05 The installation of the stands must not in any case damage or modify the permanent installations of the exhibition premises, and they must not detract from the convenience or the safety of the other exhibitors and visitors.
- 05.06 Special decoration of the stands is carried out by the exhibitors and on their responsibility. The exhibitors and their employees must display proper behaviour and perfect correctness to the visitors (not bothering the customer or going beyond the stand) and vis-à-vis the other exhibitors.

- 06.04 Unless otherwise specified by FTCC, the stand must be continuously manned, both during the times for which they are opened to the exhibitors (including assembly, deliveries, and disassembly) and during the official opening times for visitors. Non-observance of this provision may entail temporary or definitive exclusion by FTCC. This provision does not apply for exhibitors who benefit from a hostess provided by FTCC in the scope of their ordered service package. In this respect the said hostess remains under the ultimate authority of the FTCC.
- 06.05 The exhibitors are not to empty their stands and must not withdraw any of their articles before the daily closure of the event and before the end of the exhibition period stated in the Exhibitor manual.
